RAJPUTANA ON WHEELS

This Indian state has many surprises, not least the temperatures it can deliver. We will be travelling in winter here and although it is likely to be very warm in the daytime, temperatures drop sharply at night. This is beneficial to getting a good kip, but things can be chilly, or downright cold, during early starts. Due to this it is recommended that you bring sufficient warm clothes to cope with riding temperatures down to about 5°C (for brief periods), while also being equipped to ride in the low-thirties.
